

Populus x 'Norway Norway Poplar

Plant Characteristics: A large vigorous narrow crowned, male tree. Upright in overall growth. The most common parent species of these hybrids are Cottonwood (Populus deltoides) and Black Poplar (Populus nigra). These hybrids are referred to as the P. x euramericana hybrids.

- Size: Height: 40–60'
Width: 20–35'
- Foliage: Leaf is 2–5" long and 2–5" wide. The leaf is green to dark green with a yellow fall color.
- Flower: Male
- Fruit: None
- Soil: Clay loams to sandy loams.
- USDA Hardiness Zone: Zone 3
- Light Range: Full sun ☀️
- pH Range: 5.5–7.5 pH
- Other: - Will not tolerate drought on upland sites
 - High water table required on coarse-textured soils
 - Young trees are used for food by deer, rabbits, mice and beaver
 - used in windbreaks, visual screens and provide quick tree cover